JBI Clinical Fellows Program 2019

This six-month program is designed for nurse clinicians, managers, educators, and researchers who want to explore strategies that promote evidence implementation. Two week-long intensive workshops will be conducted at the UCSF JBI Centre in San Francisco, California. In the intervening months between the workshops, participants will work with a Clinical Coach to create and launch an Evidence Implementation Project at their home institution. Participants must have access to a clinical population for their implementation project.

The overall objectives of this program are to:

1. Teach participants critical elements of evidence implementation.
2. Develop and hone leadership skills necessary to implement and sustain a successful evidence implementation project.
